Restaurants generally fit into the following categories:

Another type of foodservices, are the restaurants and cafeterias in factories, offices, schools and hospitals. There are four types of service:

- table service
- counter service

Many people buy a takeaway meal and eat it at home.

Fast food

Fast foods are those which can be prepared, served and eaten quickly. There are some famous fast foods known all over the world e.g. Kentucky Fried Chicken, Mac Donald's, Subway, Burger King etc. The fast food restaurant looks just the same in all the cities.

Normally the fast food restaurants serve only a few kinds of food. The food is prepared in advance. The most typical fast foods are burgers – hamburger, cheeseburger, fish burger. The kitchen is usually directly behind the counter and you pay when you get your food.
